

Profile

Jamie Burns – CMIOSH

Personal Profile

I am a dedicated, successful, and well-motivated Health, Safety, and Environmental (HSE) consultant, committed to continual professional development. I actively combine my experience and skills with ongoing investment in various HSE-related qualifications and certifications. I hold significant experience in solving problems related to HSE issues, working in line with current legislation, industry best practices, and various management systems, while effectively engaging with all levels of an organisation.

Relevant Experience

Over 10 years' experience working in Risk Management and Occupational Health and Safety Manager/Consultancy roles.

Building, implementing, and continually improving ISO-certified management systems for a wide range of businesses across different industries.

Providing competent advice and support to clients, assisting with risk assessments, developing method statements, supporting accident investigations, and identifying, implementing, and verifying corrective actions.

Promoting continual improvement by completing inspections and audits and providing bespoke training to help develop and ensure a competent workforce.
